

CLAN MACCAIT

Scottish Reenactment

The Clan MacCait is a circle of friends interested in Scotland and its history, dedicated to the reenactment of various epochs of Scottish history. The emphasis is on the representation of insurgent Jacobites from the year 1745. As accurately as possible, it depicts what a camp of hunting Scottish nobleman from the time of the Second Jacobite Rebellion, the "Fortyfive", may have looked like.

In the extensively equipped field kitchen, the Scottish national dish Haggis is cooking over the campfire, while at the same time the duel is being trained with broadsword, dagger and shield.

Small and large combat performances are also part of the daily program, as well as explanations of clothing and armament of the epoch depicted. Many visitors marvel in astonishment at the handcrafts and handicrafts on show.

Especially the little visitors get big eyes as soon as they hold the martial Basket Hilted Broadsword in their hands and try to attack the battle-hardened Reenactor.

Further information and current dates under www.maccait.de.

